PRICE FIVE CENTS

1860 CAMPAIGN WAS FIRST OF WHISTLE STOP VARIETY IN U. S.

That there remains much to be said about the Civil War and its causes, even after a century, was indicated at the fourth annual Civil War conference at Gettysburg College this weekend where lectures by five speakers totaled about 40,000 words, the equal of a good-sized volume of history.

The five lectures with their 40,000 words were in addition to the sessions of "comment" that followed each lecture and the panel discussion by a nine-member board this morning at the final formal session of the conference.

At noon today many of the Civil War scholars from all parts of the nation who attended the three-day conference attended the Lincoln Fellowship luncheon at the Hotel Gettysburg so they could witness this afternoon's events in the National Cemetery and at the GAR memorial statue in Ziegler's Grove. Some will remain for the past commanders' dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg this evening.

BLAMES MODERN WORLD

The final conference session, however, was held this morning on the college campus with Prof. Bruce W. Bugbee of the history department at Gettysburg College presiding. The lecturer was Dr. Avery O. Craven, professor emeritus of history at the University of Chicago. His topic was "The Fatal Predicament." Comment afterward was given by Olinger Crenshaw, professor of history at Washington and Lee University.

"The emerging modern world and its different effects on a common people" was seen this morning by Dr. Craven as "the cult which had pushed the sections apart, given them conflicting values, and made it so difficult to produce the statesmanship capable of finding solutions. It was this which had created the supposed injustices and their hatred on the one side and the self-righteousness which asked for too much on the other."

POINTS LESSONS

"In such a predicament only force could apply. So when future generations can grasp this situation, they may know sorrow for a whole people who could not save themselves from four years of bloody civil war. They will know that there is no point in seeking out war guilt."

"They might also learn that 'the world do move': that when new sources of energy and new spiritual values start building a new age, those who do not catch stride are in danger of being run over; that the ever present problem in government of securing a just balance between central efficiency and local freedom cannot be solved by force but only through understanding, tolerance and statesmanship."

MOST CRITICAL CONVENTION

The Democratic convention at Charleston, S. C., in April, 1860, furnished the setting for a lecture Friday afternoon by Dr. Robert W. Johannsen, professor of history at the University of Illinois. His subject was "Douglas at Charleston" and he said:

"No American political convention has ever held so much meaning for party and nation as that convocation of determined Democrats which gathered in Charleston to nominate a candidate for the Presidential office. Upon the decision rested not only the future of the Democratic party but also the continued existence of the Union. The meeting was the sectional conflict in microcosm . . . and the central figure in the struggle was Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois."

Summing up, he said:

SOUTHERNERS WITHDRAW

"With the destruction of the last national party at Charleston the

100 Arrested, $65,000, 8 Cars Seized In Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — At exactly 3:15 p.m. EST Friday, in 54 cities across the country, federal agents raided more than 100 gambling joints.

The result: More than 100 arrests, at least $65,000 and eight cars confiscated.

The clockwork raids came on the eve of another big football weekend, and seemed in some cases aimed at football betting pools. Football parlay sheets were seized at many places.

What the tax agents were after were those who had not bought the required $50 gamblers' tax stamp, or the $250 stamp required for coin-operated gambling machines. Some also failed to pay the 10 per cent tax on gross gambling receipts. These federal taxes are required whether or not gambling is illegal in the state involved.

Cuba Builds Stockpile Of Weapons To Arm Revolution Movements In The Caribbean

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials pictured Cuba today as building up a huge arsenal of Soviet bloc military weapons to arm revolutionary movements throughout the Caribbean area.

The State Department announced Friday night that according to the best available information the government of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has already imported 28,000 tons of arms from the Soviet bloc, including tanks, guns and eight MIG jet fighters. The department said shipments also included about 6,000 tons of assorted ammunition in addition to almost 46 million rounds of rifle, machinegun and artillery ammunition previously obtained by Castro from non-Communist sources.

HAS HUGE ARMY

According to the department's figures, Castro has received a total of 93,000 automatic rifles, including 45,000 from Communist Czechoslovakia; 10,000 subma-

$4,000 BLAZE THIS MORNING

Fire that apparently broke out from an overheated pipe in a coal stove about 8:20 o'clock this morning caused an estimated $4,000 damage to the Eastern States Farmers Exchange building located just southwest of Gettysburg College. The establishment is owned by William E. Orner.

Joseph Scott, an employee, said he had started a fire in the stove when flames seemed to shoot from the second floor.

Firemen extinguished the blaze quickly when they arrived and prevented possibly more damage to the main storage area. The fire was confined to the office and portions above that area.

Some brooms, about 40 gallons of paint, flour, feed, pasteboard and cardboard boxes and other items in the area above the office were destroyed.

Robert Heyser, 30, a nozzleman, suffered a laceration of the right eye brow while pouring water from a ladder to the upper portion of the building. A fireman inside was spraying around a window, and knocked a portion of a window pane which struck Heyser above the eye.

This was the second call for the fire company in less than 24 hours. They were called to a woods fire Friday evening a mile east of Hunterstown on the New Chester Rd. near the property of James Ford.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chiffon velvet trimmed with old-fashioned lace. The skirt spread in gathered fullness from a figure-molding basque bodice sweeping the floor. Long tapered sleeves were featured with a rounded neckline. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from an imported crown headpiece of beaded orange blossoms. Pastor And Six Children Killed

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — A Minnesota pastor and the six children he was caring for while his wife attended a school play were killed Friday night when his car slammed into a concrete bridge abutment.

"The worst I've ever seen and it makes it more terrible because of the children," said Sheriff Gerald E. Cunningham.

Killed were the Rev. John Eastman, 28, and all his children—Pamela, 7, Mary, 5, James, 4, Carol, 3, Thomas, 2, and John about 10 months.

The crash came one county road near Dover, 15 miles east of here, as Eastman was driving the children to visit the family of a fellow pastor at Plainview.

An autopsy was ordered to determine if the pastor might have been the victim of a heart attack or some other sudden seizure.

CLUB SEEKS TO REVIVE W. C. C.

At a meeting at the YWCA Monday evening at 8 o'clock, an attempt will be made by the Soroptimist Club to reorganize the Women's Civic Council, which has been inactive for the past two years due to the inability of the council to secure a president. Mrs. Lee Hartman served as the last president.

One of the main purposes of the council was to "suggest and assist in the formation of and in the carrying out of plans for the improvement of Gettysburg." It also attempted to provide a medium whereby public opinion could be brought to the attention of the Borough Council.

Presidents and representatives of member organizations are asked to meet Monday night with the service objectives committee of the Soroptimist Club, Mrs. H. W. Baker and Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler, to consider the future of the council.

Council members include the American Legion Auxiliary, Adams County Fish and Game Auxiliary, American Association of University Women, Annie Danner Club, Annie Warner Hospital Auxiliary, Adams County Council of Republican Women, Business and Professional Women's Club, Democrat Women's Club, VFW Auxiliary, WCTU, Women's Club, Women of the Moose, Women's Auxiliary of the fire company and the YWCA.

SAYS TWO KEY TRACTS SAVED HERE FOR NPS

Reporting to the first annual membership meeting of the Gettysburg Battlefield Preservation Association this evening in its office here, the executive director, Marshall F. Allen, will tell the members "that despite its humble beginning the association has managed to save two of the most important sites on the Gettysburg Battlefield from commercialization." These sites include the 55-acre Wolf tract and the 118-acre Meals farm where GBPA stopped a housing development which had started on this property.

"We had hoped that by now Congress would have taken a firm hand in this alarming situation," Allen's report will say, "but the restrictions tied to the federal appropriations in the form of local zoning requirements prevents the adequate use of these funds by the National Park Service. I believe that our records of the names of more than 45,000 contributions from every state in the union is a firm petition for public funds to save the Battlefield," Allen's report says.

The fund raising program to be presented to the members at the meeting calls for an expansion of state committees to include all 50 states. GBPA state committees already in operation are headed by Jess Gorkin, editor of "Parade," for New York State; Donald Ramsay, Confederate High Command, Florida; Thomas Leo Jr., Delaware; James Flack, Michigan; Dr. Dwight Shaw, Colorado; William Pennington, Texas; and George Lyman, chairman, and Frank Cunningham, honorary chairman, for California. Ronald Marshall of Bansted, Surrey, England, has just been named chairman of the United Kingdom Committee for GBPA.

Three Firemen Are Killed In Attempt To Fight Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A nine-alarm fire roared through old buildings in lower Manhattan Friday night, trapping and killing three firemen and injuring a dozen others.

The flames, belching dense, black smoke, vari-colored sparks and embers high over the Manhattan skyline, could be seen for miles. Thousands of spectators thronged to the scene.

The three firemen literally "slid to their death" into the basement of the five-story loft building where the fire started. The men, the first to reach the scene, rushed in and started down to the basement only to find the stairs had been converted into a chute for sliding merchandise to the cellar.

CAN'T FIND WAY OUT

Once in the smoke-filled basement they were unable to find their way out.

The fire broke out shortly after 5 p.m. in the 100-year-old brick building housing textile concerns at Broadway and Grant streets. Within minutes it was turned into a torch as flames mushroomed through the building, then spread to five neighboring structures.

The fire was out of control for more than eight hours, feeding on

Miss Mildred Christman is the home economics teacher.

MOST OF 228 IN COURT IN YEAR WERE GUILTY; 8 ACQUITTED

Two hundred twenty-eight defendants were before the Adams County court during the four judicial terms of this year, according to the annual report of the clerk of courts to the state Department of Welfare.

Twenty-six of the defendants had the charges against them dismissed. Three were acquitted by the court and five by jury.

A total of 139 pleaded guilty, 40 were found guilty by the court and 15 were found guilty by jury.

NEW PROCEDURE

Only four men went to state prisons as punishment for their crimes. Ninety-one went to the Adams County jail or Allegheny County workhouse. Twenty-three were placed on probation, 38 escaped with only fines or costs. One was placed in a juvenile institution and in 37 cases defendants were directed to pay support.

During the year 24 defendants were before the court on burglary charges, 18 on larceny charges, 41 on nonsupport charges, 30 on drunken driving charges, 33 on various automobile connected charges. Those numbers constituted the major types of crimes. Other types were attributed to smaller numbers of defendants. There were, for example, four manslaughter charges during the year.

The criminal statistics this year, Clerk Kenneth Johns noted, do not compare with prior annual reports made by his office. Previously the report was based on number of cases. This year the report is on number of defendants. Often one defendant may have a number of charges against him, thus the number of cases would be larger than the number of defendants.

Broad Tribute Paid Lincoln By Gov. Davis At Luncheon

"Lincoln gave this nation a soul . . . at Gettysburg he breathed words into the soil of the cemetery and the transubstantiation occurred; the infant became man; the nation achieved its first burst of greatness; the past combined with that terrible present of 1863 became the great future."

This broad tribute to the martyred Abraham Lincoln was paid by Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis at the annual Lincoln Fellowship luncheon in the Hotel Gettysburg this noon.

The affair was the first of four official functions today commemorating the 97th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Lt. Gov. Davis' address follows in full:

"It is a great privilege to speak here today to the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania; to those who honor the significance of this date—November 19th—in American history.

"Those of us who mount the public platform learned one great lesson out of the words which flowed at Gettysburg in 1863—in brevity, more often than not, there is genius. For the brief words of Abraham Lincoln, uttered in solemnity and with dignity, have outlived the hours of Edward Everett's declamation, and are known today in every corner of the world for their simplicity and significance. I will, therefore, with such brilliant precedent, remain brief in my remarks on this occasion.

LINCOLN ADDS MEANING

"It appears to me, a much less Lincolnian scholar than most here present, that it was the Address delivered here in Gettysburg which provided the ending of the American credo—the punch line, so to speak. Indeed, our Declaration of Independence was the credo itself. And the Constitution of this nation established the modus operandi of democracy. But here at Gettysburg, Lincoln added meaning to those documents in the few words that he spoke softly to the crowd gathered to dedicate the resting place of this nation's dead.

"The war, he said, was a test of the declared principles enshrined on those preceding documents; a test as to whether they and this nation would endure. The cemetery, he said, was dedicated." (Continued On Page 7)

GIVES ALTAR FOR CHAPEL

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Yoder, Biglerville, will donate the altar and retable for the chapel to be furnished at the new county home under sponsorship of the home's auxiliary, it was announced today by Mrs. Raymond Powell, Gettysburg R. 1, one of the chairman securing donations for furnishings. The pieces cost $385.

Other expenses in connection with the furnishings include $325 for the pulpit, $225 for the lectern, $235 for the dossal and bulkhead. Other smaller items are needed.

The auxiliary is hopeful others may wish to donate something. The plans call for the chapel furnishings to be placed by the completion and opening of the new home in April.

Donations may be given in the form of memorials. Metal plates will be placed on the articles.

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's personal physician declared himself satisfied today that "everything is all right." A later medical bulletin, that seemed less reassuring at first, said the famous statesman, who will be 86 on November 30, "did not have a very good night but the pain from his injury was less."

Churchill tripped over a rug in his bedroom Tuesday night and broke a small bone in his back.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

AGAIN — THE MONFORTS

The genealogical and historical data on the Monfort (or Manfort) family of Holland, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and "points west" is continued at this time. With the gradual disintegration of the Low Dutch Settlement of the Conewago — after the War of the American Revolution — quite a good few of the remaining French Huguenot and Dutch settlers united with the Great Conewago Presbyterian Church and some of the Monforts were among this number. In the burial ground of the Great Conewago Church at Hunterstown, this county, are the following marked graves of this family:

1. "In memory of Margaret, wife of Isaac Monfort, died June 7, 1865, aged 74 years."
2. "Sacred to the memory of Maria Monfort, died April 11, 1874, aged 38 years."
3. "Sacred to the memory of Jacob Monfort, died August 17, 1886, aged 66 years."
4. "In memory of Peter Monfort, died November 13, 1859, aged 66 years."
5. "In memory of Magdalena, wife of Peter Monfort, died January 16, 1861, aged 68 years."
6. "Sacred to the memory of Martha, wife of Henry Monfort, died June 16, 1845, aged 35 years."

SERVED IN WAR

Peter Monfort who, according to a fairly reliable family tradition, was a soldier during the War of the American Revolution, is buried in an unmarked grave in the Monfort family burial plot in the "Upper" Low Dutch Graveyard. His will (Peter Monfort's) is on file in the local courthouse and he obviously died between May 25, 1825 (when his will was written) and September 16, 1825, the day it was entered to probate. According to this document his (Peter's) "beloved wife" died sometime before. Other members of his family mentioned are as follows:

1. Daughter — Margaret Monfort intermarried with — Deits
2. Grandson — Peter Hulick.
3. Granddaughter — Magdalena Monfort intermarried with Cornelius Lott.
4. Granddaughter — Betsey Coshun.
5. Grandson — Peter Monfort Deits.
6. Grandsons — "Henry, John, and Abraham Deits, of the State of New York, each the sum of seventy-five dollars."
7. Granddaughters — "Letty, Hannah, Mariah and Elizabeth Ann Deits each the sum of seventy-five dollars."

IN UNMARKED GRAVES

Without a doubt Peter Monfort, probable soldier of the American Revolution, and his "beloved wife" are buried in graves that are now unmarked in the Low Dutch Graveyard and their names must be added to the increasingly long list of those whose exact grave location have been lost. The late Rev. Demorest wrote "— there are many graves but few markers" and this is only too true — not only in the Low Dutch Burial Grounds but in

PHILIPPINES ORCHID RICH

MANILA (AP) — Orchids for milady?
Come to the Philippines, botanists say, and take your pick from any one of a thousand native species.

They range from the common butterfly orchid (phalaenopsis), which can be found growing wild in many backyards here, to the silver-gray-and-purple schileriana or tiger orchid that blooms only once a year.

SEVERAL RED VARIETIES

Red orchids are considered rare elsewhere, even in Hawaii and South America's lush tropics, but there are several varieties here. They're called renantheras or fire orchids with flame colored blossoms that live for days.

Not all the species are readily available to the sorsage seeker. So far only 80 out of the thousand or so have been commercialized. But these include what is recognized as one of the more magnificent of the local breeds — the vanda sanderiana or waling-waling as the natives call it.

This species, with white-purple-and-maroon flowers that last as long as four weeks after cutting, are used here for hybridization purposes. Chances are some of the corsages you've bought had a strain of waling-waling in it.

Orchid hunters say, however, the real beauties are to be found deep in the Philippines' tropical rain forests and mangrove swam where only the most fervent nature lovers dare tread.

There you find orchids with twisted petals and others with delicate dove-like shapes. There's also the giant orchid plant, grammatophyllum speciosum, stretching from 6 to 10 feet.

Members of the Philippine Orchid Society say as many as several dozen varieties of the parasitic plant may be found on a single tree in the midst of a swamp. Even experts have difficulty spelling out the various kinds.

STONES ARE BEST FRIENDS OF LAPIDARY

NEW YORK (AP) — In this big town where evolved the theory that diamonds are a girl's best friend, there is a little band of people who feel that most any old stone is worthy of affection.

While the Lorelei Lees dig away at the resources of the Stagedoor Johnnies, these good folk apply an equal measure of devotion to searching the old zinc and iron quarries of nearby New Jersey and Connecticut for stones that they can love.

It's just a hobby with them, for they are members of the Lapidary and Gem Society of New York. And they're a diverse lot.

President Joseph Rothstein is a Navy engineer, secretary Martin Walter a hotel manager, Walter Lustig an attorney, Sam Sankman drives a taxi, Catherine Paige is a beautician. There are about 50 of them in all.

You will find Martin Walter most any Saturday morning hunched over his gem cutting equipment in a dusty corner of the hotel carpentry shop, practicing what the society preaches. GEM CUTTING GROWS

Gem cutting as a hobby, says Walter, has grown mightily in recent years. Most larger cities have lapidary societies, particularly on the West Coast where the nearby desert offers a rich supply of stones.

The New York society is a 10-year-old offspring of the Mineralogical Society of New York, and rather a black sheep.

"The mineralogical society looks down on us for spoiling good mineral specimens to make gems of," says Walter.

Most of the society's specimens come from New Jersey and Connecticut. Hardly anything turns up in New York City.

CHERT AND JASPER
"The only thing I ever found was some chert and jasper in a small excavation at 96th Street and Broadway," says Walter.

"Professor Dan O'Connell, who used to be an CCNY, told me there once was a stream running down what is now 96th Street. He thinks the excavation must have uncovered a dump for an Indian arrowmaker. The material I found had been very definitely chipped."

Walter makes occasional field trips on Sunday to collect stones — rose quartz, smoky quartz, aquamarine, cornelian, prehnite, agate, sunstone, terraline. All of them are pretty, but none very valuable.

With his cutting equipment — grind stones and polishing material worth about $50 — he cuts the stones into round, oval or diamond shaped gems.

Don't forget that salad dressing adds to the nutrients of a meal. For family fare, it's a good idea to make one occasionally of undiluted evaporated milk, adding lemon juice or vinegar, sugar, salt, pepper and other seasonings.

HERE TODAY, GONE TOMORROW

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Nothing escapes a woman? Well, Mrs. Jerry Pulliam doesn't agree, and she's more than slightly embarrassed. She says she didn't discover for two days that her husband had finally shaved off his mustache.

LORTON, Va. (AP) — Bruce Fincham, a Boy Scout counselor, climbed a 30-foot tree to knock loose a broken limb. It looked as if it would be tough getting back to the ground.

Fellow counselors called the Lorton Rescue Squad. Two engines and a dozen firemen responded. They lowered Fincham in a rope sling.

PARALYTIC IS FINE HELP IN SEA SEARCHES

By LARRY OSIUS
YUKON, Okla. (AP)—"I can't go up so I had to go down," says the powerfully built man in the wheel chair.

"I started swimming for pleasure and exercise, and then for adventure. Everything now is outer space. But I can't do that."

So Dean Wallen, paralyzed from the waist down since polio struck him at the age of 12, found his adventure at the bottom of lakes and rivers.

ALSO A JP

The 28-year-old Wallen, a justice of the peace, has helped recover dozens of bodies, wrecked cars and stolen goods from lake and river bottoms. It's strictly volunteer and has cost him hundreds of dollars for time, expenses and equipment.

When a call comes for help, Wallen wheels to his hand-controlled station wagon and heads for the scene. There, he wriggles into his skin-tight rubber "dry suit," a pretty neat trick for a man who can't use his legs.

He scrambles out of his wheel chair and into a boat. Once over the side Wallen drops over the side and dons his air tanks, a face mask and lead weights.

TREATS WITH RESPECT

In the water he uses the boat's anchor rope as a guide and the lead weights to overcome natural body buoyancy.

"On the bottom I go into a prone position and pull myself along, feeling for whatever—or whoever—it is we're looking for," he says. Although he's made the trip below hundreds of times, Wallen treats it with respect all ways.

"Anything can happen down there—a rock can cut your air line or a tree limb can snag you. The minute something goes wrong, you panic. Anyone who says he doesn't panic is a liar. The trick is to catch it before you do something wrong."

NEVER DIVES ALONE

When the body or object is found, Wallen drags it to the anchor rope and ascends for a rope.

While Wallen and his team-mate—he never dives alone—are working, the "surface man" is keeping watch above. He carefully checks all equipment and has it ready for instant use. He watches the divers' air bubbles on the surface.

"A good surface man," says Wallen, "can tell if you are following the right search pattern, if you're in trouble—even what you've had for breakfast—just by watching those bubbles."

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Lewis Nkosi, 23, African journalist, leaves today by air for the United States to study under a Nieman fellowship at Harvard—knowing he can't return to his native South Africa.

The white government granted Nkosi an exit permit but refused him a passport that would allow him to return. If he tries to re-enter the country he faces prosecution.

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—Eighteen crewmen—12 Dutch and 6 Indian—were drowned Friday night when their dredger overturned in the Hooghly River, about 30 miles downstream from Calcutta.

which are foreseen here. Privately officials put their fears in blunter terms. The Communist powers, they said, are clearly using Cuba as a base for accumulating arms with which to supply revolutionary movements whenever there is an opportunity to stir up serious trouble.

President Eisenhower has deployed U.S. warships to patrol the Caribbean coast of Central America, acting at the request of Guatemala and Nicaragua. Those countries crushed small forces of revolutionary invaders earlier this week and alleged Cuban support for the operations.

Neighboring Costa Rica said Friday night documents had been found on a Nicaraguan opposition leader linking the Nicaraguan revolt with Castro and international communism.

President Miguel Ydigoras of Guatemala declared that he favored a Korea type police action against Cuba by the Organization of American States.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

1860 CAMPAIGN

nation itself was placed in peril. The safety of the Union depended upon the ability of the Democratic party to adjust its differences and to present a united front in the November election. As the party was rendered impotent the ways of national union were numbered."

"On the night of the withdrawal of the Southern delegates from the convention, thousands of Charles-tonians gathered in the streets, raising a cry for 'Yancey! Yancey!' The Alabamian obliged and, in a ringing speech, vindicated the Southern action, called for a vigorous defense of Southern rights and urged that the South stand united against Northern aggressions. He concluded with the speculation that 'perhaps even now, the pen of the historian was nibbling to write the story of a new revolution.' At this point, the assembled multitude gave 'three cheers for the Independent Southern Republic.' This was the legacy of the Charleston convention.

Friday evening's lecturer was Dr. William E. Baringer, professor of history at the University of Florida, and his theme was "The Campaign That Caused A War." He spoke after the Gettysburg College band presented a concert of Civil War tunes.

PIONEERED WHISTLE STOP

It was the campaign of 1860 of which Dr. Baringer spoke. He referred to other key elections in the history of the United States, such as 1800, 1828 and 1932 as being decisive in changing government policies and added:

"Of all these political landmarks, watersheds of history, years of decision, the campaign of 1860 was the most decisive . . . Campaign arguments offered up by the horde of touring orators covered the whole range of issues.

"Douglas, standard bearer of split party, saw clearly that his only chance of victory was to wrest the North away from Lincoln. That he thought he might be able to do by a vigorous personal campaign. So he became the pioneer of the whistle stop canvass and made hard work for Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon a hundred years later.

CAMPAIGN CANARDS

"An established method of seeking votes in the lusty politics of the 19th century was to insult and malign the rival candidates. The 1860 contest enjoyed a full quota of campaign canards. Lincoln was pictured as ugly, ignorant, dirty, vulgar, incompetent, illiterate, whose only accomplishments were splitting rails and vilifying American soldiers while they fought on foreign soil. This last point was extensively exploited, with Lincoln furnishing facts for his followers to use in rebutting it. An alleged Lincoln speech was circulated in which he denounced Jefferson. Lincoln privately declared this a forgery. He was accused of not having split rails, and of joining the anti-foreign party called Know Nothings or American. This last change might have driven off foreign-born voters, and he prepared a careful denial.

"Douglas was accused of having once called Henry Clay a 'black hearted traitor,' of being at heart pro-slavery, of having stolen popular sovereignty from another Democrat, of demagoguery and moral obtuseness on the slavery issue. He had, said Republican papers, been author of the pro-slavery Lecompton Constitution for Kansas, but had turned against it when he found it unpopular. The religious issue made a small flurry. Mrs. Douglas was a Catholic, on the basis of which her husband was declared one also, and a close friend of the Pope.

UNIQUE IN U. S.

"Americans a century ago found campaigns and elections so entertaining—it being their national sport—that they arranged to have them as often as possible. Many states in 1860 held separate elections for state and national offices. Maine and Vermont voted in September, and both went Republican. More important were the October states, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana, two of which were 'doubtful.' When these produced sweeping Republican victories, all remaining doubt of Republican victory disappeared. Nevertheless the Republicans campaigned hard right up to election day, and then labored to get the voters to the polls, while Douglas gave up the Northern fight, conceding it to Lincoln, and went to the slave states in an effort to save the Union.

"Although he polled less than two million popular votes, Lincoln swept the North and collected 180 electoral votes, a strong majority over his three opponents, who took 123. Equally clear was Lincoln's popular vote minority. His three opponents outpolled him by the combined total of a million votes, and in the lower South not one vote was cast for him.

"The sectional party had won. The race for power should have been over until the next election. But in 1860 it was not. Democratic leaders of the deep South determined not to accept a government headed by a Republican, and made plans to create a government of their own before the President-elect could be installed. This result made the 1860 contest unique in American experience, the campaign that caused a war."

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The founders of the dominant religions have empowered men with faith, strengthening their lives, actions and works. Each offered a guiding principle, common to all, which moved mankind forward:

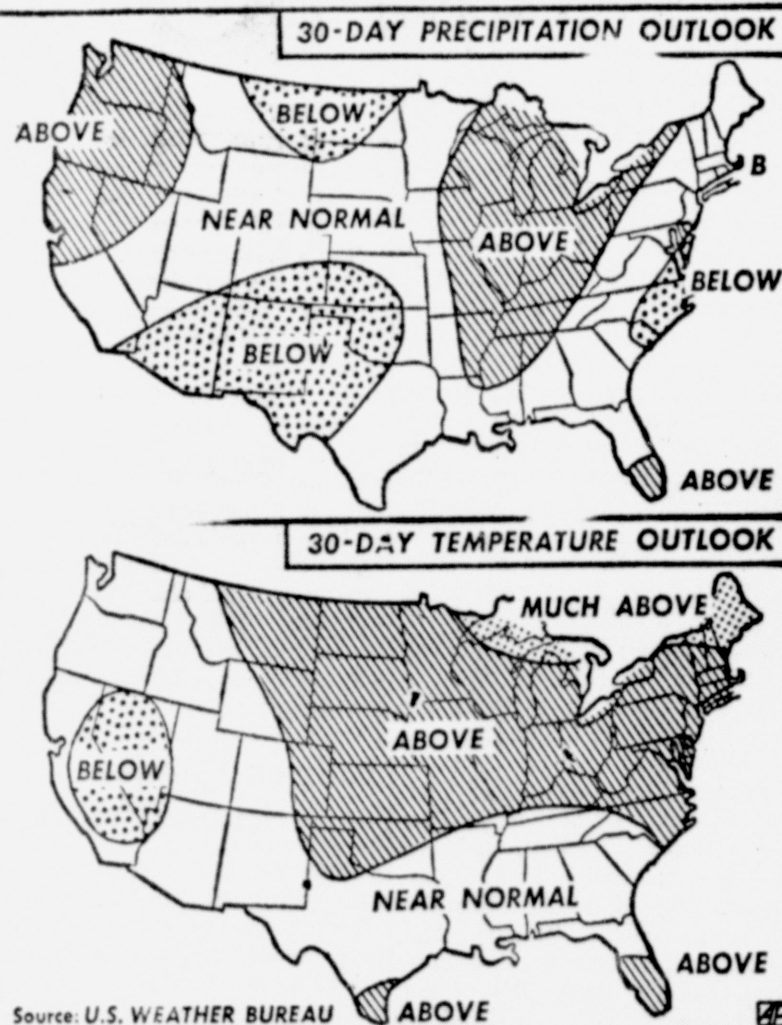

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," Moses
"Hurt not others with that which pains yourself," Buddha
"What you do not want done to yourself, do not do to others," Confucius
"Thou shalt love thy God with all thy heart . . . and thy neighbor as thyself," Christ
"No one of you is a believer until he loves for his brother what he loves for himself," Mohammed absentee, to secure a total of 12,202.

GOP VICTORY SAYS TWO KEY

In the race for state treasurer 105 votes were added for the Democrat Grace M. Sloan, bringing her total to 8,373, and 287 were added to the vote for Charles C. Smith, bringing his total from Adams County to 12,312. One absentee voter listed a ballot for Herman A. Johansen, the Socialist-Labor candidate for state treasurer, thus casting the only vote among the absentee and military given to any one other than the Republican and Democratic candidates. Johansen's total vote from Adams County is now 19.

Congressman Quigley received 76 military and 56 absentee votes to add 132 to his total, thus bringing his vote from Adams County to 9,534. His successful Republican opponent, George A. Goodling, received 81 military and 147 absentee votes and his total is now 11,271.

In the state senate competition William O. Shuman, the Democrat, received 65 military and 42 absentee ballots to bring his total to 8,970 while D. Elmer Havbaker, the Republican, received 254 votes, 92 military and 162 absentee, to increase his vote to 11,765.

MORE FOR WORLEY

In the Assembly contest Democrat Dale Clark received 63 military and 44 absentee votes to bring his total to 9,247 while incumbent Republican Francis Worley received 95 military and 157 absentee votes to increase his vote to 11,511.

In the New Oxford area, of those who voted in connection with the proposed merger of the schools there, 23 military and 22 absentee voters preferred a merger, two military and three absentee voters were opposed.

tions and financial position limits the extent of our land acquisitions at this moment," Allen said today, "but the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce, which has endorsed the GBPA program, is ready to launch its publicity campaign in our behalf." Plans further call for several other promotional programs which are now in preparation.

Allen lauded the efforts of Cliff Arquette (TV's Charlie Weaver) as chairman of the GBPA Emergency committee for his success in raising funds for this project. Allen emphasized that "if all patriotic Americans who are interested in preserving this symbol of American courage and valor—the Gettysburg Battlefield Park—would send their contributions to GBPA, here at Gettysburg today, our job would be over and it would not only save the expense of a lengthy campaign but it would insure the future safety of these important battle sites now privately owned and available for housing and commercial development."

Miss Sowers Is Wed Saturday:

Miss Blanche Elizabeth Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Sowers, Gardeners, and Guy William Lobough, Gardeners R. 1, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Upper Meridian Lutheran Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble, Benderville Lutheran pastor.

Suit Given By Stranger For

Neddy In Korea: One phase of the parable of the Good Samaritan was repeated here Sunday morning when a stranger came after mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic church to offer his suit that someone in Korea might be warm. The suit, the Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane, pastor of the church said, was one of the first contributions made in the current drive for warm clothing, bedding and blankets being conducted throughout the nation at the request of United Nations military authorities.

General Eisenhower Purchases

179-Acre Allen Redding Farm: Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has purchased the 179-acre Allen Redding farm near Gettysburg, and will make it his permanent family home, it was disclosed today. The purchase price was $40,000. Attorney Richard A. Brown said that he and John C. Bream, real estate dealer, closed the deal November 1. The property is a dairy and general farm with a nine-room brick dwelling three miles south of Gettysburg. It is located on the road leading to the Gettysburg water works, off the Battlefield avenue. It adjoins West Confederate Avenue.

Many Entered In Christmas

Window Contest: Christmas store window displays entered by Gettysburg merchants in the contest sponsored by the Gettysburg Times will be judged at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, it was announced today.

Some 25 odd merchants have announced that they will enter Christmas windows in the contest and before Saturday many more are expected to be enrolled.

Yank Tanks And Infantry Push Close To Red Border: American tanks and infantry crunched through a snow-mantled North Korean valley today within two miles of the communist Manchurian border.

By nightfall officers expected to reach the border—goal of United Nations forces all along the Korean front.

The thrust to the near-goal was made by elements of the U. S. Seventh Division. Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth quoted a 10th Corps spokesman as saying the advance units met only sporadic light resistance, which dwindled to "practically none" late Monday afternoon.

Moore Heads Heart Drive: Franklin Moore, president and managing director of the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, has accepted the state chairmanship of the 1961 Heart Fund, it was announced today by Dr. Andrew B. Fuller, of Pittsburgh, president of the Pennsylvania Heart Association.

State Canners Meeting Today:

The thirty-sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Canners association is being held at the Penn-Harris hotel in Harrisburg today and tomorrow and top-notch authorities will be among the speakers.

THE CLEAR VISION

I believe that the very atmosphere contains the wraith-like, floating though invisible, images of our beloved. Their love long ago cemented our love into a living spiritual belief. And much of the sustaining power that was theirs is what we have drawn on in the way of courage, patience, and divine belief.

We are lonely creatures, though not alone. Our Heavenly Father is always within call! This is a comforting piece of knowledge. It gives to each one of us what I like to state is the clear vision.

We each need the clear vision in our journey across life. We need it as a spiritual inspiration. We need it for fuel to the soul. We need it for replacement purposes. We need it when low in morale. It's the clear vision ahead we so greatly need in this span which we call life.

We also need our friends—tried and true—to help us across bridges, and to take us safely through dangerous traffic. We need replenishers to travel beside us.

We all need as equipping this clear vision, this God-sent power to keep us out of the ruts, with a forward vision ever fresh and clear.

Just Folks

BE A FRIEND
Be a friend. You don't need moneyJust a disposition sunny;
Just the wish to help another
Get along some way or other;
Just a kindly hand extended
Out to one who's unbelieved;
Just the will to give or lend,
This will make you someone's friend.Be a friend. You don't need glory.
Friendship is a simple story.
Pass by trifling errors blindly,
Gaze on honest effort kindly,
Cheer the youth who's bravely trying
Pity him who's sadly sighing,
Just a little labor spend
On the duties of a friend.Be a friend. The pay is bigger
(Though not written by a figure)
Than is earned by people clever
In what's merely self endeavor.
You'll have friends instead of neighbors
For the profits of your labors;
You'll be richer in the end
Than a prince if you're a friend.

Robert Kennedy Eyed For Cabinet

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that President-elect John F. Kennedy "is giving serious consideration to the appointment of his younger brother, Robert as attorney general." A Palm Beach, Fla., dispatch by W. H. Lawrence added: "No final decision has been made and none probably will be until the two brothers have had an opportunity to talk out the matter fully."

Robert Kennedy, 34, already has made a national reputation as counsel for Senate investigating committees. Among them was the Senate Labor Management Committee which investigated Teamsters' head James R. Hoffa.

If selected as attorney general, Robert, who managed his brother's successful campaign, would be the first brother of a president to serve in that president's Cabinet.

Policeman's Kin Arrested In Raid

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Five Philadelphia police officers were arrested Friday in part of a nationwide crackdown on alleged gamblers who have failed to pay federal taxes.

Among those arrested was Thomas Malone, 34, nephew of executive assistant police Commissioner David J. Malone. The raid took place at the Colony Club in the northeast section of the city.

The five men arrested were charged with engaging in gambling without having purchased federal wagering tax stamps. They were held in $1,000 bail apiece for a hearing Monday by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. Furia.

The National Cancer Institute proposes to test the ginkgo tree, which dates back to prehistoric times, to determine whether it has any curative properties.

2 SURRENDER IN BABY ADOPTION CONSPIRACY

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Two men have surrendered voluntarily to face conspiracy charges of trying to push through a baby adoption against the mother's wishes.

Alexander Segal, 52, of Drexel Hill, Pa., and Max Gibbs, 45, of Upper Darby, Pa., surrendered Friday and were released on $1,500 bail each to await trial.

Besides the conspiracy indictment returned Thursday by the Camden County grand jury, Segal was indicted on a charge of placing a child for adoption for money. The case developed this way, according to county prosecutor Norman Heine.

Mrs. Florence DeJesus, 29, of Camden, gave birth to a son on Oct. 8 in Cooper Hospital and asked Segal to place him in a private home temporarily because her unemployed husband was seriously ill.

WAS PROMISED $1,500

Two days later Segal gave the infant to a Havertown, Pa., couple represented by Gibbs. Segal was to receive $1,500 in three installments.

The couple was not identified. Segal had been paid $1,000 when Mrs. DeJesus learned that her husband was not seriously ill after all. She asked for her baby back. Segal refused to return the child and Mrs. DeJesus went to the police.

The baby was returned on Oct. 21.

Heine said that Segal recommended Gibbs to the Havertown couple and Gibbs filed intent-to-adopt papers in Delaware County Court at Media, Pa. The lawyer received fees for his work, but none of the money paid to Segal, Heine said.

SEEK TO STOP FLOW OF GOLD

BONN, Germany (AP)—Two American officials fly here today for what are expected to be stormy economic talks designed to stem the drain on the U.S. dollar and gold reserves.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon are bringing more than 20 experts from Washington with them.

The two men will try to persuade the West German government that it must contribute more money to aid underdeveloped nations.

The United States reportedly feels the prosperous West Germans haven't made a sufficient effort to help the less fortunate countries.

The Adenauer government, reliable informants said, was prepared for tough bargaining sessions during the three-day talks which begin Monday.

The Adenauer government claims it is already making a substantial foreign aid contribution.

KENNEDY AND SYMINGTON TO STUDY DEFENSE

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy today tackles a study of the Defense Department looking toward the streamlining he says it needs for this nuclear age.

For the study, to continue over the weekend, the Democratic winner called in Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration and mentioned frequently as a possible Kennedy choice for secretary of defense.

At Kennedy's request, Symington has been charting Defense Department reorganization for some time and now is ready to make recommendations for the program the new administration will send to Congress shortly after Jan. 20.

During the campaign Kennedy said that as president he would seek increased efficiency in the Pentagon setup and aim at economies in administration of the huge defense program.

On the other hand, Kennedy also is on record as favoring a 2½ to 3 billion-dollar hike in spending to bolster the nation's military might.

The session with Symington on revamping of the Defense Department comes against the background of a lengthy briefing Kennedy got Friday on the situation in the Caribbean area. There, on orders from President Eisenhower, American warships and planes are on guard to prevent any Communist-led attack on Guatemala and Nicaragua. These revolt-threatened Central America republics asked for U.S. help after accusing Cuba's Fidel Castro regime of aiding the rebels.

The president-elect spent 2 hours and 40 minutes with Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, and his deputy, Richard Bissell. Kennedy had requested the briefing, classified as top secret.

BURY GABLE WITH MILITARY HONORS TODAY

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Hollywood says goodbye to Clark Gable today.

Filmdom's king, who died Wednesday of a heart attack, will be buried with full military honors.

James Stewart, Robert Taylor and Spencer Tracy will be among the pallbearers. Gable will be laid to rest in a crypt beside that of Carole Lombard, third of his five wives, who was interred in 1942.

She died in a plane crash while on a World War II bond tour. It wasn't long afterward that Gable enlisted in the Air Force as a private.

Three years later he was a major with an air medal for five missions over enemy territory. The Air Force will conduct the simple rites in honor of Gable's wartime service.

A color guard and escort of servicemen from March Air Force Base will join a gathering of Hollywood names at services at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

The public will not be permitted to attend. Friends said Gable wanted a quiet funeral.

His entombment beside Miss Lombard's body was by consent of his widow, the former socialite Kay Williams Spreckels.

"She is just carrying out his wishes," a spokesman said.

FIND CHANGES IN EDUCATION NOT TOO EASY

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Education that was good enough for grandpa isn't good enough for today's children—and it wasn't good enough for grandpa either.

State superintendents and commissioners of education from across the country have been wrestling with that problem at a three-day meeting that ended here Friday.

It's easy to talk about the "dream schools" of tomorrow, they said, the new and beefed-up courses of study and the wonderful electronic devices that will make learning easier and better.

It's something else to translate dreams into classroom action.

"The idea of changing the high school curriculum is not new," J. Lloyd Trummel of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals told the Council of Chief State School Officers Thursday.

"It has been talked about for years. But of all the major proposals that have been made since World War I, only two have been generally adopted—vocational education and extra curricular activities."

"Remember radio? Once radio was going to be a great boon to state tangle unravels. They can leave in effect a court order that admitted four Negro first grade girls to two white schools.

Or they can dismiss legal action against Louisiana which blocks its legislature from running New Orleans schools on a segregated basis.

New Orleans first public school integration since reconstruction brought a week of school boycotts, unruly protest demonstrations, and street fights.

Five In Family Burned In Blast
CARBONDALE, Pa. (AP)—Five members of a family were burned Friday night when gas exploded in the kitchen of a home.

The explosion started a small fire in the home of Joseph McGraw, a lawyer, but the blaze was quickly put out. The gas had escaped from a broken hose line, police said, but what made it explode was not known.

The injured were in fair condition at Carbondale Hospital. Three are McGraw's children, Kathleen, 6, Joseph Jr., 4, and Lorraine, 2. Their step-father, Dennis Van Nort, 60, and an uncle, Joseph Gilmartin, 60, also were injured. McGraw and his wife were not home.

education, it was going to bring great ideas to all the people. But some people saw it as a threat to the teacher. And others said it was dangerous that some mysterious 'someone' would use it to dictate what people would learn.

"And the same arguments we once heard against radio are being heard again today against educational television, teaching machines and other new techniques."

Trump referred to proposals for stiff new courses in seven fields of study, presented by a group of experts here, and asked: "Have we learned our lesson? Are we going to doom these great ideas to failure because we are too busy, because we don't have the teachers, the buildings, or the money?"

Strong O'Connell Outfit Defeats Delone Gridders In Season's Final 22-6

A blocked punt, a field goal and an 85-yard punt return all helped Bishop Denis J. O'Connell High School of Arlington, Va., to hand Delone Catholic High School its fourth defeat in their last game of the season 22-6 before 2,000 fans Friday evening at McSherrystown.

Delone drew first blood and had a 6-0 lead going into the second quarter, but then O'Connell took over and Delone never seriously threatened.

Playing the 10th ranked team in the Washington Metropolitan Area, Delone thus ended its season with a 5-4 record, including the Central Penn Catholic League title.

The Knights from south of the border received the opening kickoff but managed only nine yards and punted to the Delone 30. It took the Squires six plays plus a penalty and about four minutes to push across their score of the evening.

The big play of the drive was a 42-yard pass play that Timmins was able to grab from a defender at the O'Connell 16. From there, Quarterback Don Hartlaub, in two plays, swept the opposite ends to score standing up from the seven. Bill Timmins placement was wide to the right.

SLUTH RECOVERS

The Knights came back strong from their own 15, but when the drive got to the 47 Depebrook fumbled and Jim Smith pounced on the ball for the Squires. After Ron Riley got nine, a 15-yard penalty against O'Connell advanced the pigskin to the 32. Another first down got Delone to the 21, but on a first and 10 from that spot, Hartlaub lobbed a pass in the end zone which was intercepted by Mike McGarry. The rest of the quarter saw the Knights driving mostly on the ground to the 43.

The drive continued and, six plays and two penalties later, Delone had stopped the Knights cold on the 12-yard line. On the first play following, Hartlaub fumbled and Gary Musolf recovered on the eight. But the Squires made another great goal-line stand, stopping their foe on the three. Three plays netted Delone only nine yards and Dick Rosensteel went back in punt formation, but he didn't get it away.

Dave Mulligan put the pressure on and blocked the kick. It was an easy matter for sophomore guard Don Telzrow to pounce on the ball for O'Connell's first six points. Longauers placement was wide.

There were about four minutes left to play but the Knights had not finished their scoring in the half. On the first play following their kickoff, senior guard John Larmer intercepted a pass on his own 40. A beautifully executed pass from John Depebrook to Dennis Dwyer along the right sideline gained 33 to the seven. From there, three plays gained nothing and Longauer stepped back to boot a 17-yard field goal with less than two minutes in the half to make it 9-6.

LONG PUNT RETURN

O'Connell scored in the third quarter in about three minutes. Delone received the kickoff and moved for a first down but eventually had to punt. Dwyer, a 160-pound senior back, took it on his 15, was surrounded by four Delone tacklers on the 20, but, with the aid of two good blocks, broke clear and cut down the left side-line to score standing up. Longauer's placement was good to make the score 16-6.

The Squires made a bid in third quarter for a score but to no avail. Jim Smith and Mike Miller blocked a Knight punt and Smith recovered on the Delone 48.

A series of downs, plus a 15-yard penalty, gave Delone a first down on the 24 but, on the first play, Hartlaub injured his leg and had to be removed from the game. The Delone offense couldn't move anywhere the rest of the night.

O'Connell's last score of the evening came with about eight minutes left in the game. The drive actually started in the third quarter when Delone ran out of gas on the Knights' 17. Fifteen ground plays later, plus a personal foul penalty, Longauer scored from the two to make the score 22-6. His placement was wide again.

The rest of the game saw action between the scrubs of both schools with play in the midfield area. 2, 3 & LAST AD STRONG O'DON

KANSAS CITY BALL CLUB IS AFTER BUYER

By FRANK CRAWFORD

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A ninth-inning balk may throw the battle to buy the Kansas City Athletics to a group of local business men.

Elliot Stein, a St. Louis stockbroker heading a rival group, pulled out of the bidding Friday even though the Chicago Probate Court had given him permission to purchase the 52 per cent controlling interest of the late Arnold Johnson. Stein said he was withdrawing because of the keen disappointment of Kansas Citizens and because "we have been fully aware of the problems imposed by absentee ownership."

UNPROFITABLE VENTURE
Spokane for the Kansas City syndicate, who had bid slightly more than Stein's $1,820,000 for the controlling interest, assigned other reasons for the about-face.

They said although Stein could get the 52 per cent owned to Johnson's remarried widow, Mrs. Warren Humes, he could not obtain the minority stockholders' 48 per cent. This, they said, would make it an unprofitable venture.

Monday had been set for the Stein group to produce the contract of sale.

On Tuesday Chicago Judge Robert Dunne awarded Stein the right to buy the controlling interest. Stein's offer provided it could be withdrawn if he could not obtain 100 per cent of the stock.

Mrs. Humes, who has said she wants to keep an interest in the ball club for her son, Jeffrey, 10, again may be offered a place in the local group, as she was in Stein's. Or she may make a bid to purchase the stock herself.

Dentist Fined For Swatting Patient

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—A dentist who punched a patient on his dislocated jaw after extracting six teeth was fined $28 or a month's imprisonment.

The patient said Dr. Robert Blenden undertook to extract six teeth for a fee of $2.40 but that after the first tooth had been extracted his jaw was dislocated. The dentist then extracted the other five teeth and rushed the man to a doctor. The doctor failed to restore the jaw but the dentist demanded immediate payment.

"I refuse to pay it because he had hurt me," patient Lewis Christian told the magistrate. "He then hit me a blow on my sore jawbone."

DEATHS

PARIS (AP) — Paul Faure, 82, journalist and pre-World War II Socialist leader died Friday in Paris. Faure was secretary-general of the Socialist party for 20 years before retiring from politics in 1940.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — H. Leslie Atlas, 65, former vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System and head of CBS operations in Chicago until retiring last year, died Friday. Atlas gave many present-day stars their start on the air including Gene Autry, Patti Page, the Andrews Sisters and Fran Allison.

NORTH TARRYTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Laurence D. Redway, 70, for 20 years the editor of the New York State Medical Journal, died Friday in Phelps Memorial Hospital.

At one time spices were believed to have the power to ward off evil airs bearing disease. They were added to magic potions and sold to inspire love, fear or hate.

YOUNG SCHOOL GRIDDER DIES

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 17-year-old Derry Area High School football player who suffered a head injury in a football game last month died at Presbyterian Hospital today.

Robert Kerr of Torrance, Westmoreland County, had undergone three brain operations since he was rushed to the hospital Oct. 29. The latest operation was performed earlier this week. He never regained consciousness.

Kerr, a fullback, collapsed in a coma on his squad's bench during the fourth quarter of the Derry Area-Sewickley Area football game at Latrobe. He had been on the bench from near the end of the third quarter when he walked off the field with a severe headache.

He was first taken to Latrobe Hospital and then transferred to Presbyterian.

In the second quarter of the game, Kerr scored Derry's initial touchdown on a three-yard plunge. Sewickley won the game 19-14.

SYRACUSE EYES 3 BOWL GAMES

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
For a team that was stamped a major disappointment earlier in the season, Syracuse, the de-throned national champion, was floating on Cloud 9 today.

The Orangemen are under consideration for three major bowls —Orange, Liberty and Gotham. They'll probably take the one that offers the biggest financial return.

Syracuse wound up its season Friday night, turning back Miami, Fla., 21-14, in another one of its last-ditch efforts. Just 3 seconds before the end, Ben Schwartzwalder's operatives had to beat back a fierce Miami drive six yards from the goal line.

So Syracuse finished its season with a 7-2 record.

Meanwhile, another fistful of teams finish their seasons today with Missouri in a position to win its first national championship in history.

The Tigers meet Kansas and a victory would undoubtedly mean the national title, and the Big Eight crown as well. Missouri already is assured of playing in the Orange Bowl since Kansas is on NCAA probation.

Minnesota, No. 4 behind Missouri, Iowa and Mississippi in this week's Associated Press poll, plays arch-rival Wisconsin. A Gopher victory would mean a tie with Iowa for the Big Ten title and a bid to the Rose Bowl. The Gophers already have beaten Iowa and that would be the determining factor.

DUKE CAN WIN

Likewise Duke was in a position to win the Atlantic Coast Conference championship with a victory over North Carolina. Utah State could nail down the Skyline crown with a triumph over Utah. A decision by Yale over Harvard could give the Elis their first perfect season since 1923 and the Ivy League championship.

Arkansas, 7-2, No. 7 in The AP poll, was out to cement at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title by beating Texas Tech.

Iowa played Notre Dame, while Auburn, No. 9 in the poll, went against Florida State. Both Auburn and idle Mississippi still are in the running for the Southeastern Conference title. It won't be decided until next week.

Navy, No. 8 in the country also has the day off, while Ohio State, No. 10 went against Michigan. Washington, No. 5, assured the host spot in the Rose Bowl, closed out against Washington State, while New Mexico State tackled Hardin-Simmons in an attempt to clinch a tie for the Border Conference crown.

Pitt and Penn State, both hoping for bowl bids, went at each other in another important Eastern game.

SEEK BUYERS FOR BALL CLUB IN LOS ANGELES

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee co-owner Del Webb was off today on what was supposed to be a secret mission in an attempt to line up a buyer for the Los Angeles franchise in the American League in 1961.

Joe Cronin, the beleaguered American League president, acknowledged Webb's trip Friday after deferring a decision until Tuesday on the ownership of the new LA franchise.

Cronin said Webb had been commissioned to see Walter O'Malley and learn from the Los Angeles Dodger owner the extent of the damages he would seek for the invasion of a second major league club.

HAD SOME PROSPECTS

It was learned, however, that Webb had a two-fold reason for hastening to Los Angeles. First, he wanted to confer with O'Malley and second, he wanted to interest a group he had in mind to take over the Los Angeles franchise.

"Webb said he knew some people in Los Angeles who he was certain would be acceptable to the league," said the informant. "He didn't want to identify these people because he wasn't sure they wanted to own a big league club but he said he'd try to line them up."

This disclosure indicated that the American League owners were not particularly enthused over an offer by Charles O. Finley, a Chicago insurance broker, who pledged $5 million Friday to the operation of the LA club.

HAD OTHER OFFERS

"Finley was the only one to apply for a franchise in person," said Cronin, "although we had several other bids on the telephone and by telegram."

He refused to identify the other bidders but it was learned that one came from J. A. Smith, an industrialist who owns part of the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League and another from Elliot H. Stein, a St. Louis investment broker, who had withdrawn from negotiations for the purchase of the Kansas City Athletics.

Cronin recessed the day-long meeting to let a committee to Ford Frick's office for a conference with the commissioner in order to clarify the Los Angeles situation complicated by Frick's insistence that "suitable" damages be paid to O'Malley for invading his territory.

Because of these complications, Cronin extended the deadline for the player selection for the new franchises from Sunday to Friday, Nov. 25.

Bullet Soccermen Sparked By Truex

Ray Truex, a Sophomore from Merion, captured the 1960 Gettysburg College soccer scoring title, final statistics revealed. George Seitter, Philadelphia, was runnerup.

Truex rammed through seven goals during the season in which the Bullets copied only three wins, lost seven and tied one. The Merion native also registered two assists. Seitter recorded six goals and one assist.

King Gore, Baltimore, was the team's sparkplug throughout the year. The former Towson High School athlete tied Dick Gardner, Wellesley, Mass., in both goals and assists with four each.

Steve Cox, Arlington, Va., turned in a commendable performance as goalie. The Bullet Junior finished the year with 196 saves.

Hank, Armstrong Battle Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Hank, knockout conqueror of 33 of his 60 opponents, and Ace Armstrong, who never has been stopped, meet tonight in a television 10-round at Madison Square Garden.

The bout will be telecast nationally (ABC TV, 10 p.m., EST). This is a big fight for both. Hank, a 25-year-old contender from Detroit, makes his debut in the Garden after seven years of pro battling.

Armstrong, 27, and a nonwinner in just two fights this year, no longer is ranked among the top 10. The rangy boxer from Elizabeth, N.J., has to win if he wants to get any more worthwhile fights. Hank, the No. 5 contender among the 160-pound set, is the 8-5 favorite.

Scoring will be by the rounds system.

SONGIN LEADS PATRIOTS TO 42-14 VICTORY

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Patriots' quarterback Ed (Butch) Sogin is just hitting his passing prime at the age of 34. His fountain of youth: superb protection. He guided Boston to its third straight American Football League victory, 42-14 over Dallas Friday night, completing 25 of 35 airds for 210 yards and three touchdowns.

Yet six weeks ago, people were beginning to ask if Sogin was all washed up in the first seven games, he was hitting on 46 per cent of his passes for eight touchdowns but had suffered 11 interceptions.

HE NEEDED TIME

All Sogin needed, however, was a little time to throw. A series of personnel shuffles seeking proper line help hit the jackpot two weeks ago in the Oakland game. Sogin has been red hot ever since.

For the three-game winning streak Sogin has not had a single pass intercepted, is throwing at 55 per cent accuracy rate and accounted for nine touchdowns.

CLOSER TO LEAD

The victory moved Boston to within a game and a half of Eastern Division leader Houston. If the Oilers are upset by Denver Sunday it would be just half a game. The other AFL game has Buffalo at Western Division leader Los Angeles.

Dallas suffered its worst setback of the season last night. Its Texans could get no spark from quarterback Cotton Davidson and by the time his reserve, Hunter Ennis, made his appearance Dallas was trailing 20-0.

PARSONS TOP SCORER FOR FROSH SQUAD

Phil Parsons, Merchantville, N. J., former Delaware Twp. High School standout and all-conference football player, captured the Gettysburg College freshman scoring honor for the 1960 season.

Parsons, a speedy 5'11" 175-pound halfback, toted the ball across the goal line seven times for 42 points. The New Jersey native carried the ball 44 times for 246 yards, caught three airds for 83 yards and two touchdowns, intercepted three passes for 124 yards and returned five punts for 52 yards.

The leading ground gainer was Lynn Hoffman, Johnstown, and former captain of the Johnstown Central High School team. Hoffman carried the ball only 17 times and picked up 282 yards for 16.6 yards per carry. He also returned two kickoffs for 37 yards and scored three TD's for 18 points.

JOHNSTON TOP PASSER

The Bullet yearlings' number one passer was Vance Johnston, Biglerville. Johnston completed 19 of 46 airds for 320 yards, five touchdowns and one conversion. The 18-year-old passer was the team's leading total offense player with 71 plays for 338 yards.

The punting honors went to half-back Charles Taylor, Camp Hill. Taylor, who played his football at Camp Hill High School and Bullis Prep, booted the ball 24 times for 814 yards and a 33.9 average.

Dave Wehr, Tamaqua, 6'2" 190-pound end, turned in the top pass receiving performance and ran second in the scoring column. Wehr caught 10 passes for 194 yards, scored four touchdowns and one conversion for 26 points.

The Bullet yearlings, under head coach Jack Ridinger, completed the season with four wins and one setback. The lone loss came at the hands of the Temple frosh 39-8. The Bullets defeated Bucknell, Stevens Trade, Shippensburg State College and Johns Hopkins.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Free Press said today Kenyon Brown, former Detroit Tigers stockholder, and Western auter Gene Autry are in a syndicate bidding for the new Los Angeles franchise in the American League.

Brown, a Los Angeles radio executive, sold his minority holdings in the Detroit Baseball Co. last month.

FAVOR GIANTS OVER EAGLES IN BIG BATTLE

By JIM KENSIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
The last time the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants met on consecutive Sundays the Eagles swept the pair to climax their third straight Eastern Conference championship in the National Football League. That was in 1949.

Now the Giants are shooting for three titles in a row and are 3-point home favorites to defeat the conference-leading Eagles Sunday in the headline game of six on the NFL schedule. The Eagles (6-1) and Giants (5-1-1) meet again next Sunday at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, beaten only by the Cleveland Browns, is riding a six-game winning streak and wants to extend it right on through to 11-1, matching their record in '49, the last year they won the title.

The Giants must win to take over first place. The Eagles can retain the lead with a tie.

The third-place Browns (5-2) are at Pittsburgh and rate 5-point favorites over the Steelers (2-5-1). A Philadelphia victory would send Cleveland into second place, but the Browns probably would prefer Giant victories both this week and next because of the schedule. The Eagles already have split with Cleveland and have a relatively easy schedule after the Giants. The Browns, beaten once by New York, get another crack at the Giants.

In the Western Conference, the Green Bay Packers (5-2) can tie the idle Baltimore Colts (6-2) for the lead by beating the Los Angeles Rams (2-5-1) at Milwaukee. Green Bay is favored by 12.

Third-place Chicago (3-5-1) is home to the Detroit Lions (3-4), and the Bears are 7-point favorites.

In other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (4-4) are road favorites by a touchdown over Washington (1-4-2) and San Francisco (3-4) is at the Dallas Cowboys (0-8) in a battle the 49ers figure to win by 14.

BERWICK AND ERIE PREP WIN GRID CROWNS

By FRED WALTERS

The Associated Press
Berwick and Erie Prep picked off two crowns from the thinning 1960 Pennsylvania high school championship fruit tree Friday night.

Prep reversed a 13-0 defeat in the regular season to whip city rival Academy, 27-7 for the Erie County Big Seven title in a playoff. Each finished league play with 5-1 records.

Berwick, meanwhile, won its third title of the campaign when it downed Milton, 19-0. It gave the Bulldogs the Susquehanna Valley title, one of the new ones this season. They already have won or clinched the Keystone Conference and the East Penn Southern Division laurels.

Carlisle, meanwhile, closed out an unbeaten campaign by whipping Mechanicsburg, 27-7 for its 10th victory.

HOW TO GET A DOG IN THE HOUSE

We have a dog who talks and laughs. He began talking at the age of two and laughing a year later.

His name is Nickie, otherwise known as Prince Nicholas II. Of course he doesn't speak English or German or Russian, but he does talk, in his own way.

Nickie is a collie-shepherd cross whom we bought in a pet shop in the Pacific Palisades, California, seven years ago. He was just a little ball of caramel and white fluff then, but today he's a big, beautiful and intelligent animal who loves every foot of Hidden Valley Farm.

Nickie is sensitive, playful, watchful, ordinarily obedient and, as I was saying, quite talkative. When the whole family goes away for awhile, to a country fair or for a drive on Skyline drive or to a movie at night, Nickie lies down on the front lawn or in the back yard and watches the house as conscientiously as a yardful of detectives.

"TALKS A BLUESTREAK"

Upon our return he leaps toward our automobile, talking a blue-streak. He virtually knocks us down as soon as we get out of the car, bounding at each of us in turn as we duck sideways to avoid his caresses.

While he's trying to kiss us he keeps up his ceaseless monologue — a constant half-whine, half-hum in which, we are certain, he is telling us how much he missed us, how he feared we were never going to return to him, and finally, what went on while we were away. He lets us know he was quite worried.

He talks mostly to my wife, Miriam, as the mistress of the house, and to our daughter, Linda, because he knows he is really Linda's dog. He was given to Linda as a birthday gift when she was 11 years old.

"Is that so?" Linda will say to Nickie as he does his talking dance around us. "And what else happened?"

And Nickie will tell it all. Some of it is hard to comprehend, but we understand completely when he gets to the part of his loneliness, and then we console him.

Although Nickie is usually obedient, there is one striking exception to the rule. On clear, crisp nights he doesn't like to come into the house when we call to him, preferring to sleep outside. No amount of hollering or sternness will help. He will lie in the darkness, sometimes a few feet beyond the porch light, and calmly and immovably listen to my sugary entreaties and salty threats of punishment.

USES MASTER PLAN

When things reach this stage, I resort to my master plan. The first step, which often works, consists of telling Nickie in a matter-of-fact, scornful tone: "I see you now, Nickie. I see you, old boy, so the game's up. Come on Nickie, I really see you."

With a defeated sigh, he usually will get up and lumber sheepishly into my range of vision, grinning at me. He grins or laughs by raising his upper lips over his teeth much like a human being does.

If Step No. 1 fails, I go on to Step 2. "Go home!" I shout peremptorily. It is the ultimate insult to Nickie, for some reason. No matter what he's doing—in the midst of a dog fight or cing a bone—that order usually makes him put his tail between his legs and slink into the house.

But if all this fizzles, I go on to my final secret weapon—a paper bag. We keep a pile of paper bags in the kitchen pantry for this purpose. I get one of the bags, blow it up, and burst it with my hands, making a loud, sudden clap. And in a split second out of the darkness leaps a frightened Nickie. It may be unorthodox, but Nickie is plain neurotic about thunder or gun shots—and we all have to go to bed sometime.

Antibiotics Used To Wipe Out Stress In Chickens

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. — From the time the chick pecks its way out of the shell it is destined to be subjected to almost continuous conditions of stress.

Stressed birds reflect losses to consumers and poultrymen alike because of the decreased weight gains, lowered egg production and general unthriftiness of health which is frequently followed by disease.

Poultrymen, according to Warren Reynolds, director of agricultural research for Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., are constantly striving to keep their chicken flocks at peak production of meat and eggs. To offset effects of stress, poultry raisers provide their birds with a broad-spectrum antibiotic such as terramycin in either their feed or in their drinking water, or in both.

BLAMED ON MEN

Poultrymen use the antibiotic to ward off diseases that frequently break out in birds that are weakened by stress. Through this preventive technique they shorten the potential time during which the bird is not at its peak of meat and egg output, he said.

Stress is caused by man's handling of birds, loud noises, poor ventilation, administration of vaccinations, debeaking, sudden changes in feed and by other management practices, Reynolds indicates.

The elements create stress through sudden changes or extremes in temperature and humidity, storms and excitement caused by predatory animals.

Poor nutrition stresses chickens because of the lack of one or more essential dietary elements in an improperly formulated ration.

And when disease is present in the flock the birds become stressed.

To offset the effects of stress, poultrymen make every attempt to eliminate stressing conditions, he said. And to offset the effects of disease, they successfully provide their birds with terramycin in drinking water or in feed for three to five days after the stress occurs.

In this way they are able to reduce stress and disease to keep chickens at their highest possible peak of production. The poultrymen benefit and so do consumers, said Reynolds.

Gable No Superman; Had His Share Of Fears, Fate

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

(First of two articles on the legend and the loves of Clark Gable)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've never worked hard at being a myth," Clark Gable once said. Yet he was one for the three decades he ruled the film world.

As often happens with men who live their lives in the brilliance of fame, the real Gable was lost in the glare. The myth took over. It was a popular myth, and it blended nicely into the kind of role he played on the screen. But it wasn't Gable.

He became the epitome of the American male. People thought of him as the hard-muscled, wise-cracking, masterful man of action.

LOST MOTHER AT 4

He was indeed a man's man. He felt uncomfortable in a drawing room and longed to be casting a fly on a mountain stream or drawing a bead on a flying duck.

But he was no Superman. Despite his great fame and wealth, he had his share of fears and phantoms, drawn from a life that had more than the normal portion of tragedy.

His mother died when he was 4. Her place was taken by a stepmother who died when he was in his teens. His early years were rootless as his father moved from town to town. Gable was to know three broken marriages and one widowhood. Though he was a top star to the end, he could never recapture in the last 15 years of his career the magic he had known in the first 10.

NOT TRAGIC LIFE

Of course, it would be silly to say that he led a tragic life. His triumphs were greater than most people's, but triumphs are not always as helpful in illuminating the man.

Gable was not a good talker about himself. He liked to let his work speak for him, and it did quite eloquently. Only rarely did he provide much insight on what he believed.

Some samples:

On his wealth: "I'm not rich by any means. But I'm comfortable. That's all I ask of life—to be warm, well-fed and comfortable."

LISTS FAVORITES

His favorite films: "If you really want to go back, you can pick ones like 'It Happened One Night,' 'Test Pilot,' 'San Francisco,' 'Boom Town.' And 'Gone With The Wind,' of course. I shot for seven and a half months, but I don't think I worked more than seven weeks. I even got married to Carole Lombard and had a honeymoon during the picture. There were whole stretches I wasn't in. But when Rhett Butler did make an appearance, he made it count."

On making friends: "I've given no thought to whether I make friends fast or slowly. I don't have a lot of friends; I do have a lot of acquaintances. Friends are something else."

On using makeup: "I hate it. I only use it when I have to."

STILL LEARNING

About being an actor: "I've spent a lot of time learning to be an actor. I'm still learning. I don't know how you go about learning to be a personality, but I do know how you learn to go about being an actor, and I work at it. It's a profession I'm proud of. It's my job. Not that I am the best, but I try."

These are mere fragments, and Gable seldom revealed more, in public or private. More can be deduced from his personal story, especially in the women he married. That will be the subject of the next article.

7-Year-Old Jay North Stars In "Dennis The Menace"

Jay North, the tow-headed seven-year-old who portrays TV's "Dennis The Menace," is an ambitious young man.

But unlike most actors, Jay's ambitions extend far outside the realm of dramaturgy. At our behest, he listed — in order of importance — the things he would like to do when he grows up.

1. Be a catcher on the New York Yankees.

2. Join the crew of a pirate ship and hunt for sunken treasure.

3. Run the lion and tiger house at the zoo.

4. Marry Haley Mills (the young girl who stars in "Pollyanna").

Not one to let the grass grow under his feet, Jay has already done some preliminary spade work on these plans.

"GAME OF CATCH"

As a potential threat to Yogi Berra, he happily drags all visitors out on his front lawn for a game of catch. Unhampered by the fact that his mitt is a few sizes too big and it's pretty tough for a seven-year-old to see through a man-size catcher's mask he signals for curves, fast balls and "stinkers." (No, Jay," explained a visitor, "they're called sinkers, not stinkers") and tosses the ball around with unbridled enthusiasm.

Next year, his "Dennis The Menace" schedule will be worked out to let him join the Little League team in Los Angeles.

As for the art of pirating, the height of Jay's craze for brigands and buccaneers was reached when he was six years old. A remarkably good artist for a boy his age, Jay would sit for hours sketching black-bearded, treacherous pirates. His friends became members of the crew. Veteran cameraman Henry Freulich, who lenses "Dennis The Menace," discovered that he had been included in the pirate band as "Jolly Henry, The Cut-throat."

WEARS PIRATE COSTUMES

Jay still spends a good bit of time trying on his pirate costumes and masks, but not as much now that the Yankees have their catcher for the 1970 season on the way.

"The one ambition Jay might conceivably pursue," his mother told us, "is zoology. He's fascinated by animals."

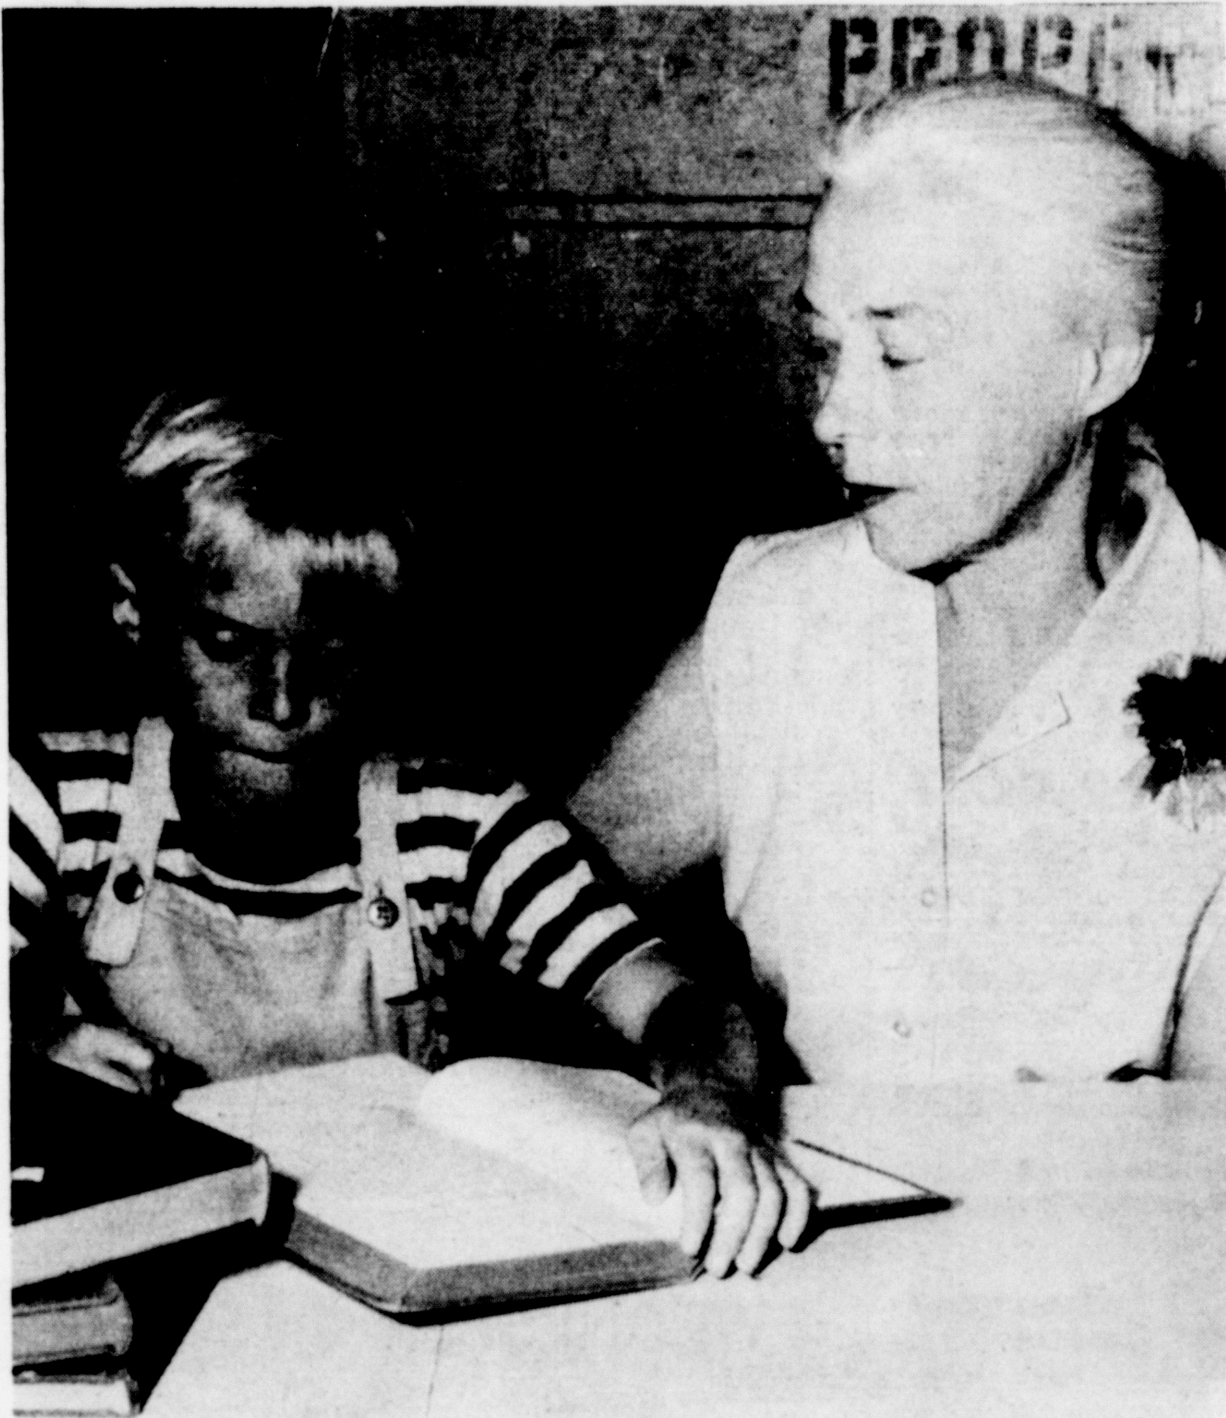

He also owns quite a few.

"I've got half a cocker spaniel named Timmy," he explained. "The other half belongs to my Uncle Hal. Sometimes he smells awful."

(His mother was quick to add that the reference was to Timmy, not Uncle Hal.)

OPTION ON HAMSTERS

Jay also has turtles and a parakeet, but was persuaded to return a pair of frogs and numerous grasshoppers to their natural habitat. Currently, his eye is on a pair of hamsters in a Los Angeles pet shop and he goes there every day to feed them.

"They're promised for his next birthday," said Mrs. North. "Having picked up some show business expressions at the studio, Jay tells everyone he has an 'option' on the hamsters."

"He also owns a turkey which was given to him as a gift when he was in New York during Thanksgiving last year," she continued. "He took the turkey with him to Chicago and when he saw turkey on the Hotel Ambassador menu, was absolutely frantic."

To keep the chefs from getting at his pet, Jay asked that the turkey, in its box, remain in his room. To the consternation of management, he led the gobbler on a leash through the swank hotel lobby.

Jay's fourth ambition, we learned, was to someday wed Haley Mills. The only drawback is that he has yet to meet the "Pollyanna" star.

"But I've seen the picture four times," he said. "And she's beautiful."

Which proves that age is no barrier to true romance. Haley is exactly twice Jay's age — she's 14. "He looks upon her," said Jay's mother, "as an elder woman."

These ambitions, both sensible and nonsensical, are for the future however. Right now, Jay is preparing for the resumption of "Dennis The Menace" filming, and he'll again be the busiest youngster in Hollywood.

"He spends a maximum of three hours on the set," said his mother, "and another four hours doing his schoolwork. But we try to turn it into a game as much as possible. And no one minds if he disappears for a few hours, as he did one day last year, to climb the trees in the studio back lot."

But the day will come when Jay will outgrow the "Dennis" role. At which time, the acting profession may lose one stellar performer and the New York Yankees, the Bronx Zoo or the good ship, Jolly Roger, will have a new recruit.

Fortunately, when that time

Jay North studies with teacher at the Screen Gems studio where "Dennis The Menace" is filmed.

comes, it's almost certain that Jay will be a fine gentleman. Thanks to his mother's awareness of the pitfalls of a child in professional life, Dennis is conscientiously guarded against developing into a spoiled child. He is encouraged to spend more time in play with his nonprofessional friends. Fortunately, Dennis basically has an unspoiled personality for he is equally at home playing with both groups. The fact that he is seen on television by his neighborhood friends is almost completely ignored.

Jay's favorite television fare, like so many boys his age, is horror movies, "The Three Stooges," "Quick Draw McGraw" and "Huckleberry Hound" — to name a few of his favorites. Actually, his television watching time is kept to a bare minimum by his parents.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
By Marshall Tuckey

The ability to carve is more than an art; it is a necessity for everyone who is a lover of good food. A beautifully carved roast looks better but the gourmet claims that looks don't matter as long as the flavor is there... that the taste is the thing. Correctly carved meat tastes better. Always carve with the least amount of loss of juice. You may look clumsy and the roast may look like a cyclone had struck when you are through, but it will not be dry and tasteless, when you learn to keep the juices in the meat, letting as little as possible run unto the platter. Remember the taste is the thing. Plan to have your Sunday dinner with us.
